

ANNUAL REPORT
FY 2023

“It was good to take time out of our busy lives to get centered in the beauty of Kansas, the place where we live.”

- Joan Weaver, Wild Words Project Director, Kinsley

Dear Friends,

Thank you for another great year. The good news found in this Annual Report is because of your support of Humanities Kansas. The humanities are thriving in Kansas — new exhibitions, compelling history presentations, book discussions, and other community-centered events brought thousands of Kansans together in community after community to engage in thoughtful conversations. It was the Movement of Ideas in motion! So much so, that it prompted HK to create a new strategic plan and an update to our mission statement: Humanities Kansas connects Kansans with stories, ideas, and each other to strengthen our communities.

Throughout the year, enthusiastic project directors saw local needs and leaned into HK resources. Humanities scholars and cultural leaders provided expertise in drawing connections between past, present, and future. And event participants did it all—hosted and attended events, went online to engage in Big Ideas, and gathered for conversations over books, Kansas history, poetry, and more.

Stories are at the heart of this work. Stories carry our culture; they educate and change us. They inspire and challenge us. They provide comfort and encourage curiosity. Since our founding as an independent nonprofit in 1972, HK has relied on diverse stories rooted in the humanities to spark fresh thinking and to navigate conversations. The results, as you'll see in this report, are impressive.

An extra thank you to the staff and board of directors who guide HK every step of the way.

Ad astra!
